

Curriculum vitae

Agneta Kruse, born 1944

Candidate exam in sociology, statistics and economics 1969. PhD in Economics 1979

Positions and assignments

Since 1970 I have hold a position at the Department of Economics, Lund University, since 1988 a tenured position as a lecturer.

I served as an expert to the parliamentary Commission on Pensions during the period 870101-880331. During 880701-910630 I served as head of the department (prefekt).

1993-94: editor of the journal Ekonomisk Debatt.

During the years 1995-1997 I was a member of the Board of Social Insurance. 1999-01-01 to 2009-02-28 I worked part time at Swedish Social Insurance Board, responsible for the administration of research means for research on social security.

I am a member of the research council of Swedish Association of Local Authorities and Regions (since 2000).

I have been a member of the newly finished research program The Aged and the Economy, financed by the Swedish Council for Working Life and Social Research.

During the years I have presented papers at a number of conferences, a late one being the ISSA conference in Warsaw, Mars 2007 where I presented the paper Social insurance design and globalisation. I participated in the CNAV/EU conference in Paris November 2008 on "Solidarity and fairness between generations and workers", where I presented aspects of the Swedish pension system. In October 2009 I served as a short term EU expert on pensions on an EU commission in Mexico.

Teaching

I have been teaching at all levels in economics, in a variety of courses, mainly in public finance. At undergraduate level I teach in the course "Public Economics". At masters and graduate degree I lecture in "Public Finance" and in the course "Topics in Public Economics".
